HUMAN RESOURCES
Owens Community College will host the 19th and the 20th annual State of the State Diversity Conferences in March 2015 and March 2016. Lisa Dubose, Director, Organizational Development and Chief Diversity Officer, is a three-year member of the organization and will serve as the College’s event chair.

The College is dedicating October 7 and 8 for faculty and staff professional development. The Professional Development Days Committee has strategically designed sessions that will provide professional development to support the College’s mission and focus on areas including academics, health, operations, personal development, safety and mental health, strategy, and technology. Ms. Dubose serves as chair of the committee.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SERVICES (ITS) – Connie Schaffer, Associate Vice President, Technology/Chief Information Officer
An ITS all-staff meeting was held on July 19. President Bower, Dr. Renay Scott, Vice President/Provost, and Mr. Witt attended and held an open discussion with the staff.

As of July 2013, audiovisual support for classrooms and events is now the responsibility of the ITS Division.

ITS has implemented four additional customer service initiatives this summer which include: Help Desk call backs, computer technician call cards, online surveys and walkabouts. After two months, the responses from these initiatives have proven beneficial in improving support and services.

ITS implemented a program called ‘New-to-You’. This program addresses aging computers that were to be replaced by the leasing program. While contending with the temporary financial restrictions, computers originally designated for lease replacement will be retained and refreshed - meaning reimaged, cleaned and more. In some cases new monitors and keyboards will be provided. The program, which began June 3, has completed 140 systems so far, out of the 439 designated for this particular lease replacement. The remaining will be refreshed before the end of year.

Another summer ITS initiative underway is a one-stop on-campus solution that allows students to resolve password issues immediately. The student can now swipe their student ID card or key-in their OCID number along with their birthday and last four digits of social security number to reset their own password. The Password Reset Self-Service Kiosk (PRSK) prints a receipt with the student’s new password, which is a one-time use password enabling the student to then reset their own. For security reasons, PRSKs are used to reset student passwords only. The current locations for these PRSKs are OServe (Findlay and Toledo), ITS Help Desk lobby and the Toledo Advising area.

Owens is working to become a testing site. Individuals applying for an entry-level law enforcement position would take one test and then their test score, contact information and brief profile will be available to Ohio’s participating police departments that an applicant selects.

Dave Siravo, Director of Sales, presented to the Northwest Ohio Regional Economic Development Association and Oregon Economic Development Association on the Ohio Incumbent Workforce Training Voucher Program. Several businesses have indicated an interest in applying for these training dollars and using Owens as their training provider.

Mr. Siravo is now serving as the contact for registrations for company apprentices for the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) Center, and has met with several companies over the past couple of weeks to recruit.

WCS is providing assistance to Kern Liebers to develop a new apprenticeship program in die setter/press maintenance and recruit employees to the apprenticeship program.

The WCS staff team provided information to numerous area companies in July about the impending launch of round two of the State of Ohio Incumbent Workforce Training Voucher Program. WCS is assisting companies with preparing for applying for grants through the program, as well as providing the associated workforce training needed by the companies.

WCS staff delivered several training sessions to Toledo Jeep/Chrysler employees in conjunction with the company’s launch of the new Jeep Cherokee. Cy Keiffer, Professor, Information Systems, delivered custom-tailored training for over 90 of the company’s team leaders. The training was part of a consortium of educational partners and was delivered at the University of Toledo. Content included e-mail, charting and math skills.

Ms. Dubose serves as the Owens liaison to the Lucas County Commissioner’s Higher Education Sub-committee on Bridges of Poverty. Owens was the first institution of higher learning at the table to support this sub-committee. On July 31, the College hosted and provided the trainer for the full-day training session titled “Understanding Under-Resourced College Students.” The training was held July 31 and conducted by Linda Sulpizio, Training and Curriculum Specialist, Northwest Ohio ABLE Resource Center. Various faculty and staff members attended the training to expand their understanding of student concerns impacting education.

GOVERNMENT & COMMUNITY RELATIONS AND MARKETING – Jennifer Fehnrich, Executive Director

GOVERNMENT RELATIONS - FEDERAL

A Better Bargain for the Middle Class – is President Obama’s plan to make college more affordable. The plan was released on August 22 and includes measures to help address the rising costs of higher education. The plan proposes to create a new rating system for colleges and universities as a basis to pay for performance. It also focuses on promoting innovation and competition by challenging institutions to provide a greater spectrum of quality, affordable options. Finally, the plan outlines measures to help ensure that student debt remains affordable. These measures are described in more detail below.

The President noted that, with the exceptions of Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee, states primarily fund public colleges based on enrollment versus performance. This notion was the impetus behind perhaps the most controversial aspect of the plan – the creation of a new rating system by the U.S. Department of Education. The intent is to help students and parents compare institutions based on value and offerings, while motivating colleges and universities to improve performance. The ratings will take into account the ‘value’ of institutions in terms of access, affordability and outcomes. In turn, financial aid will be tied to the rating system, whereby students enrolled at colleges with a higher rating could receive higher Pell grants and more affordable loans. In further efforts to tie funding to performance, the plan would reward colleges for results with a Pell ‘bonus’. The bonus is determined based on the number of Pell students who graduate. The plan addresses student performance by controlling the purse strings of Pell recipients. Students will be required to complete a certain percentage of courses before continued Pell funding would be disbursed.

In efforts to address student debt, the President included expanded income-driven repayment plans for students. The ‘Pay As You Earn’ concept would enable all student borrowers to cap their federal student loan payments at 10 percent of their monthly income and provide additional information to borrowers with regard to their repayment options. While this will help make the loans more affordable, it will likely increase the repayment timeframe to beyond the standard ten-year period for students to retire their loans.

Dual Enrollment Reform “College Credit Plus” – H.B. 59 included a provision that requires the Chancellor to make recommendations to the General Assembly to establish the College Credit Plus program that enables high school students to earn credit at colleges and universities. The recommendations are due to the Governor, Senate President and Speaker of the House by December 31, 2013, for implementation in the 2014-2015 academic year. A working group has been created by the Ohio Board of Regents and will focus discussions on several priorities including: funding model, relevant coursework, communication, program participation and data. The Ohio Association of Community Colleges, the Inter-University Council, and other key stakeholders groups have representatives serving on this working group. Owens should anticipate seeing a framework for the recommendations by mid-October so that they can be vetted and refined prior to the December 31 deadline.

Ohio House of Representatives ‘Higher Education Study Committee’ – Led by Chairman Cliff Rosenberger (R-Clarksville), this committee is holding hearings across the state to explore higher education and workforce training issues. It is likely that these conversations will guide future legislation. The most recent hearing, where President Bower provided testimony on behalf of Owens Community College and the Ohio Association of Community Colleges, was held at Penta Career Center. His testimony centered on three important topics: 1) dual enrollment, 2) developmental education, and 3) workforce training. Information and statistics about the dual enrollment partnership between Owens and Penta was shared with committee members. Dr. Bower’s testimony also highlighted the importance of implementing tools to help developmental education students persist and shorten the time it takes to complete the developmental education coursework before they are able to enroll in college-level courses. The examples provided were the early alert system Owens uses to foster intrusive advising for students who are at-risk of falling behind or failing the course and the math emporium alternative model to development education courses.

INSTITUTIONAL EFFECTIVENESS – Thomas Perin, Associate Vice President
Mr. Perin has been asked to join a Higher Learning Commission committee called the Strategy Forum Design Team. Of the 200 AQIP colleges, eight people were chosen to serve on this board. Owens has been recognized as a leader in the pathway of AQIP for accreditation.

Mr. Perin participated in a two-hour conference on July 18 to help the Commission redesign institutional strategy forums, which are mandated for all AQIP institutions for accreditation compliance. A second conference call was held on July 30.

Mr. Perin continues to work with category teams to finish writing of the 2013 Systems Portfolio, which remains on track with the time line for completion. On July 11, Mr. Perin met with the Final Edit team to kick off the editing of the 2013 Systems Portfolio into one voice. The team has one-month to complete the assignment.

On July 16, Mr. Perin presented a training seminar for supervisors, entitled Engaging the Campus in Improving Student Success, at the request of President Bower.

Mr. Perin and Anne Fulkerson, Enrollment and Retention Research Associate, attended the Ohio Association of Community Colleges’ Data Analysis and Reporting Consultation Committee meeting on July 23.

On July 30, Mr. Perin held an orientation for the new members of AQIP Planning Council and Quality Council.
